into is in favour of relaining the present restrictions on the manufacture and sale of intexicating liquors?

A vory large number of these associations have been agitating for war-time prohibition, including prohibition during demobilisation; and almost all of them are strongly in favour of the prohibition of the sale of intexicating liquors on election day. Surely in times of excitement anything which would in the slightest degree weaken the control of that excitement ought to be strongly guarded against; and everybody knows that one of the actions of alcohol is to leasen the power of control. Many of us regard with eavy the action which has been taken in practically the whole of North America in this matter, and deplore that we here are so far behind.
